In 1979 I had the unique opportunity to stay in the south Amazonian forests and Pantanal with a group of researchers of the PUC Sao Paulo University. The stay was coordinated by Maria Bernadete Delboux, a great intelectual and human being who I will never forget - to whom this essay is dedicated. In that amazing trip we were together the Tapirape and Karaja tribes. Here, a few images of the photographic essay. It is said that the region was later destructed by fires - produced by commerce of wood sold all over the world.
